

Motorsport in Education Conference

... developing World Class Skills 10 -11 July 2007

'World class speakers on world class skills' perfectly describes the unique and exciting content of the Motorsport Academy Education Conference, to be held, inside Silverstone, in July. This unrivalled and exclusive Conference will bring value to all involved in the education, training and skills sector and is the only forum of its kind.

It will provide a rare opportunity to hear, first hand, from exceptional high profile and truly world class employers and engineers including Ross Brawn (ex- Ferrari F1), Pat Symonds (Renault F1) and Patrick Head (WilliamsF1). These, and other speakers including Sergio Rinland (ex- Arrows) and Frank Dernie (ex- Williams), will express their personal thoughts on 'world class skills' development to illustrate how delegates can create success on a world class level. All workshops and seminars will be of enormous value to organisations with involvement in HR, recruitment, training and education.

Register now to guarantee your place, as numbers are limited to just 200.

Your organisation should not miss this exceptional opportunity to hear from these proven, successful engineering employers who have led their teams to compete and win, on a world stage. Time spent gaining insights into the high value world of motorsport, and the careers and opportunities that exist, will undoubtedly provide ideas and inspiration to help drive your organisation forward. Simply networking with these and other delegates will deliver unbeatable value.

Ross Brawn	Ferrari's former Technical Director was the tactical genius behind the team's return to F1 supremacy and every one of Schumacher's World Championships. Ross will explain the Italian model of motorsport and how it differs from the UK.
Frank Dernie	With over 30 years of F1 experience, he is one of the real engineering stars behind the Williams, Benetton and Lola teams.
Patrick Head	The engineering brains behind the World Championship Williams F1 team.
Sergio Rinland	One of F1's leading designers with Brabham, Benetton, Arrows and Sauber.
Pat Symonds	The most experienced Executive Director of Engineering in F1 today, and the power behind the double World Championship Renault F1 team.
Stuart Turner	Former Head of Ford Motorsport, and After - Dinner Speaker of the Year Award winner, will provide unique and entertaining insights into the world of motorsport.

Few occasions host so many leaders from the motorsport and high performance engineering industry. Hear their views on how industry and education can, and must, work together to secure and improve the long term future of this world class industry.
